

Courses offered at University of Houston

See this link and choose the graduate catalog from the drop down menu.

The University of Houston offers a wide range of courses of similar nature such as the ones listed under Rice University. In particular the Colleges of Natural Sciences and Mathematics, and the College of Pharmacy offer a variety of equivalent classes that can be considered.

In order to request that a course may be added as an approved elective, you must provide a syllabus and course description to the NLM program administrator.